Two Conventions.

Since the adoption of the Terrell election law, nominating conventions have become purely perfunctory affairs,asmuch as they can do no more than to ratify the will of the voters of the party as the same is expressed in the primary election. For this reason it is probable that not even the voters who straggled into the court house on Saturday afternoon to vote in the senatorial run-off primary realized that two Democratic nominating conventions were being held in the same building.

The first was the Democratic convention to nominate a candidate for district judge of the 38th judicial district, and a candidate for district attorney; and the other was the Democratic convention to nominate a candidate for representative of the 116th district.

Both conventions had been called for the same hour, but on account of the fact that County Attorney Elmer de Montel was the legally constituted chairman of the Democratic party for both districts, necessarily one of the conventions had to await the conclusion of the other.

The judicial convention was held first. Judge H. E. Haass was chosen as chairman and Elmer de Montel as secretary. After the presentation of the report of the executive committee which had previously canvassed the vote for district judge and district attorney at the primary election held on July 22, a formal resolution was introduced by V. H. Blocker, Esq., declaring Judge R. H. Burney of Kerrville to be the nominee of the Democratic party for the office of district judge of the 38th judicial district, and L. J. Brucks of Hondo as the nominee of the same party for the office of district attorney. This resolution was promptly adopted and after the election of Judge H. E. Haass as chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee for the 38th judicial district, the convention adjourned.

The vote for district judge in the primary election as reported to District Chairman de Montel and tabulated by the executive committee is as follows:

County—	R. H. Burney	W. D. Love
Bandera.....	109	143
Kerr.....	382	90
Zavala.....	278	111
Kendall.....	441	32
Uvalde.....	454	689
Edwards.....	39	98
Medina.....	684	112
	2,387	1,281

Real county did not make an official return of its vote for district judge, but it is understood from unofficial sources that Judge Love obtained a small majority in that county. Judge Burney's majority on the face of official returns is 1,101.

The convention for the 116th representative district was organized by the election of Judge H. E. Haass as chairman and Elmer de Montel as secretary. The executive committee reported the canvass of the vote cast in the primary election July 22, and the same was ratified and approved by the convention, and J. F. Harris of Cometa, Zavala county, was declared the nominee of the Democratic party for representative of the 116th legislative district. The candidates for the nomination in the primary were: J. F. Harris, the present incumbent, and Harold Baldwin and Glen E. Woodley, both of Hondo. The vote, as officially reported to the district chairman, is as follows in the four counties comprising the district:

County—	Harris	Baldwin	Woodley
Medina.....	494	169	101
Uvalde.....	218	345	508
Zavala.....	186	90	89
Dimmitt.....	69	36	47
	967	640	745

Plurality for Harris over Woodley, the next highest opponent, 222 votes. After the election of Judge G. B. only as chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee for the 116th representative district, the convention adjourned.

Good Time For the "Strike."

Now is the time for the people of Hondo to "strike" against Worldliness and Sin. At the Baptist Church Sunday morning the pastor will preach on "Our Marching Orders," and at night "Looking Back."

Sunday night we will have the last of the open air services of the season. You are invited.

Notice, Farmers.

A meeting of the farmers will be held at the New Fountain school house at eight o'clock tonight (Saturday, September 2nd), for the purpose of considering the Rural Credit Law, and to decide what if any steps we wish to take to secure loans under this law.

Everybody come and be prepared to discuss this matter. Meeting open to all.

NEW FOUNTAIN FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Buss-Blackburn.

Mr. Charles Buss of Hondo and Miss Nettie Blackburn of Biry were married at the Methodist parsonage Sunday afternoon at five o'clock, Rev. J. W. Long, the pastor, performing the ceremony.

The wedding was very quite, only the relatives and a few friends of the happy young couple being present.

The groom is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Buss, Sr., and the bride is the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Blackburn.

The happy young couple left Sunday afternoon, amid a shower of rice, for a brief honeymoon trip to San Antonio, and are now domiciled in Hondo.

The Anvil Herald joins their many friends in extending congratulations for a long and happy wedded life.

Uvalde 13, Hondo 10.

The Hondo girls' basket ball team was defeated in a very fast game by the Uvalde girls' team. A large crowd attended the game, many visitors being in town on account of the Dry Farming Congress held there Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

It was a very good game despite the fact that both teams had had practically no practice since last season, and both sides were fouled often.

The members of the visiting team were Misses Nellie Wilson, Isabel Schneider, Goldie Hurt, Bessie Brucks, Maggie Cameron and Clara Miller, chaperoned by Mrs. J. H. Fletcher, their manager.

Honoring Miss Locklin.

Wednesday afternoon Miss Chris. Pike entertained at bridge, honoring Miss Ruby Locklin of Brownwood.

Several exciting games of bridge were played, after which delicious refreshments of pecan ice cream and cakes were served, the plate favors being cut flowers tied in pink.

The club prize was awarded Mrs. Ralph Noonan, the guest prize going to Mrs. Oscar Miller.

The members and guests present were: Mesdames J. M. Finger, J. G. Heyen, H. J. Meyer, A. G. Walker, J. H. Fletcher, F. S. Cockrell, Ralph Noonan, W. A. Schmitt, Leach, C. Stone, Oscar Miller, Miss Ruby Locklin of Brownwood and the hostess.

Run-off Primary.

SAXON "SIX"

A BIG TOURING CAR FOR FIVE PEOPLE

A short time ago 266 "SAXON SIXES" traveled 61,800 miles without stopping. Each car covered 300 miles. The gasoline consumption averaged 23.5 miles per gallon.

A week later 38 Saxon "Sixes" raced in relays from New York to Frisco in 6 days, 18 hours and 10 minutes—a record in automobile speed from coast to coast. In both cases were the cars strictly stock models. In both cases were the drivers Saxon dealers—not professionals. And therein is the real significance of that average of 23.5 miles per gallon of gasoline and that time of 6 days, 18 hours and 10 minutes. For what these cars and drivers did is no more than you and your Saxon "Six" can do. Saxon "Sixes" identical in every detail with those 206 in the 300-mile non-stop run and the 38 in the Atlantic-Pacific dash are on our floor now. We urge you to see them at once. Saxon "Six" is $815 f. o. b., Detroit.

The Practice.

"I have no sympathy with these emancipated women who want to omit the word 'obey' from the marriage service, and put themselves on an equality with men." "Yes, I believe with you, Mrs. Snap, that a man should be the master in his own house. By the way, my husband was disappointed that you did not join his poker club. Why didn't he?" "Oh, he wanted to badly, but I wouldn't let him."

Poor Listener.

"What was the lecturer's subject?" "From the Cradle to the Grave," answered Mr. Dubwaite, who escorted Mrs. Dubwaite to the hall under compulsion.

"Was the address worth hearing?" "I can't say. I fell asleep during the 'cradle' part, and when I woke up the lecturer had just spoken the final words in the cemetery."

Woman's Way.

"I must say it's hard to give you up," said the disappointed suitor. "Well, if it will make the parting any easier for you, I'll introduce you to a friend of mine who will help you to forget me." "You are very kind." "But, on second thought, I won't. If she did that I would never forgive her."

KEEPING HIS WORD.

She—My husband promised me that I should never hear a harsh word from him in all of our married life, and I never have.

He—H'm! How long have you been married?

She—Let me see. Just two days and four hours.

No Novelty.

"When I took Mrs. Gaddy out for an automobile ride she was nervous all the time for fear we should strike somebody."

"That was all put on. She's used to running people down."

The Vehicle.

"So the fight was suspended for awhile, you say. Did the defendant go home in the interim?" "No, sir; he went to the hospital in an ambulance."

Medina County Teachers' Institute.

The Medina County Teachers' Institute for white teachers will convene at Hondo, Texas, at 8:30 A. M. Monday, September 4, at the High School building and continue in session for five full days.

Every teacher in the county is requested to be present at the opening of the first day and continue to be on time for the entire week. Be prepared and prove yourself an interested teacher. Improve yourself and thereby benefit the people of Medina county who are realizing the great needs of our schools.

The Institute is held for the benefit of those in your charge, and for the advancement of the cause of education. Therefore do not shirk your duty, but put forth every effort toward making this Institute the best ever had in the county. Be not careless and display to your profession, but give your pupils, patrons and county a "square deal."

The State Department recommends that the Institute be divided into sections that it may do better work. I have followed its suggestions and have selected such subjects for the sectional meetings as came within the scope of all the schools of the respective sections.

The greatest good to the greatest number has been my purpose in making these selections.

The Supervisors have been appointed for each day, and are held responsible for the thorough and efficient work of all present. Bring pencil and note book.

Teachers expect parents to buy books for their children so that efficient work may be done; for like reasons the State Superintendent and County Superintendent expect teachers to provide themselves with the adopted texts of the Institute so that good, honest work may be accomplished.

Every teacher in the county, both in Common and Independent Districts, is required by law to have his certificate registered with the County Superintendent before a contract or election is valid. Do this.

The County Board of Education, District Trustees, Mothers' and Parents' Clubs, and friends of the Institute are cordially invited to attend, submit questions and take part in all discussions.

A registration fee will be charged each teacher to help pay the expense of prominent educators of the State who may address the Institute. Should there remain a balance it will be applied to the Medina County Teachers' Library Fund.

is essential to health, comfort and appearance. Have you ever noticed a strained look on your face? Usually this comes from eye-strain. More wrinkles are caused by eye-strain than by old age. Headaches caused by eye-strain cannot be cured by medicine, it depends upon optical skill of the optometrist who prescribes the glasses. Having had 16 years experience in Medina County assures you of satisfaction.

Jim Hall, who farms the J. T.
Smith farm just west of town, reports sixteen bales of cotton already picked from 55 acres and thinks he is assured of six or eight more. This is about the best yield we have heard of in this section this season. Mr. Hall is walking in the footsteps of his father in being a good farmer.

Fletcher Davis, Field Agent of the State Department of Agriculture, returned Thursday from a nearly four weeks itinerary through Frio, Mc-Mullen, La Salle, Dimmitt, Zavalla and Uvalde Counties, ending with the eighth annual meeting of the Texas
Dry Farming Congress at Uvalde
Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. He says that all the country traversed was hit hard by the storm of two weeks ago and suffered much more than the Hondo section, the loss to the pecan crop of Uvalde County alone being estimated at over a hundred thousand dollars. Of the Dry Farming Congress, Mr. Davis says that while the attendance was not so large as at some former Congresses, the interest was good and a very instructive program was carried out. The people of Uvalde were lavish in their entertainment of the Congress, a big barbecue being served on Tuesday. The Congress adjourned
Wednesday night after passing a number of resolutions, one of which was changing the name to "The Texas
Dry Farming and Livestock Congress," and another appointing a committee of three to select the time and place of the next meeting of the Congress.

Storm Damage. The storm that swept South Texas Friday, 18th inst. wreaked incalculable damage to crops. This storm covered the territory severely from Brownsville on the extreme south to Uvalde on the west and Matagorda on the east, diminishing its fury before reaching Austin. Worst of storm as to crop damage seemed to center around Cotulla, La Salle county. Feed crops were largely damaged and cotton suffered in greater proportion. Open cotton beaten out and green bolls beaten off. Stalks damaged so that new growth doubtful. A heavy rain accompanied the wind over most of territory.

Kendall and Kerr Counties—Crops in Kendall county badly injured by hail early in season; never recovered. All crops in Kerr above the average and all stock in prime condition.

A Farmer's Institute is Re-Organized Here.

Hon. Fletcher Davis, Assistant Organizer of Farmers' Institutes, working under the direction of the State Department of Agriculture, delivered an address to the farmers of this community and citizens of the town on Monday night.

Preceding his talk on the value of Farmer's Institutes, he said that he regretted exceedingly to see that our country had suffered so severely from the long drought and that so many of the people had left since the occasion of his last visit, little more than a year ago. But that these conditions were not the fault of the country; that all parts of the Southwest had suffered from the dry weather; that the people becoming discouraged and leaving was only what every new country had to go through in the early years of its development, but those people who can and will weather the storm and will stay here are going to reap the benefits of a golden harvest; that there can be no doubt but what we have a fine country, where the soil for fertility is unsurpassed and that we have here many other natural advantages that can be found in but few countries.

Mr. Davis' address was one of the best talks along agricultural lines that has ever been delivered to our people. He told in plain language, in a way that could be understood by all, the advantages of a Farmers' Institute in the community, where the farmers and people generally could meet and give their experiences of their success in growing crops and raising stock that could not otherwise than prove of mutual benefit to all the people. He also urged the necessity of diversified farming, the growing of home gardens, soil preservation, seed selection, crop rotation and the raising of live stock and poultry to which all the surplus products of the farm could be fed.

After Mr. Davis' speech the Fowlerton Farmers' Institute was re-organized with the following officers: W. F. Sponseller, president; W. H. Newberry, vice-president; H. C. Holmes, secretary, and E. W. Tiedeman, entomologist.

From here Mr. Davis went to Tilden and spent two days. Returning he passed through Fowlerton en route to Cotulla, where he will organize an Institute to-day.—Fowlerton Reporter, August 18th.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This is a medicine that every family should be provided with. Colic and diarrhoea often come on suddenly and it is of the greatest importance that they be treated promptly. Name Your Farm OCCASIONALLY we get a letter from a farmer on stationery on which is printed his own name and the name of his farm. In some cases we find on the margin, briefly stated, what is being made a specialty of on that farm.

This looks like business, and demands attention at once, for it catches the eye.

The editor of your county paper always stands in need of a bushel of potatoes, a sack of water-ground meal, or some such farm product, and would be glad to swap you some nice printed envelopes and paper to match for these things.

It would pay you to do some trading with this man, who is doing a lot in his way to help you, so next time you are in town talk it over with him. Before giving the order talk it over with the wife and family, and decide on an appropriate, catchy name for your farm and then—live up to it.—President Charles S. Barrett in National Field.

Bad Temper From Bad Liver.

You can generally blame your grouchy on a lazy liver. Liver ills are back of coated tongue, bad breath, biliousness and muddy, sallow complexion. Insufficient flow of bile leaves impurities in the liver which poison the entire system. Po-Do-Lax is Nature's remedy. It stimulates the activity of the liver, increases the flow of bile, and by its laxative quality carries off the waste matter and clears the complexion. At your Druggist, 25c.

What's the use of being dignified and sedate just to please your wife for if it takes all the pleasure out of life for you?

Artichokes.

Artichoke is a coming vegetable. The French have shown us its utility.

The plant grows wild in southern Europe.

The artichoke is a graceful plant, several feet high.

Its handsome leaves and fine appearance recommend it for ornamental use.

The artichoke belongs to the same family as the daisy and the sunflower.

The part which is eaten is the flat, circular disk which bears the flowers.

The tender base of the disk is also eaten after the heads are boiled tender.

Dressed with oil and vinegar, the tender parts of boiled artichoke make a good salad.

Are You Looking Old.

Old age comes quick enough without inviting it. Some look old at forty. That is because they neglect the liver and bowels. Keep your bowels regular and your liver healthy and you will not only feel younger but look younger. When troubled with constipation or biliousness take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are intended especially for these ailments and are excellent. Easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere.

Finnan Haddie.

Place fish, skin side down, in a baking pan with water enough to cover. Boil ten minutes, when skin may be easily removed. Cut off the tail well into the meat. Return to pan, using half milk and half cream instead of water. Thick slices of boiled potato should be placed snugly around the fish. Season in the pan if desired.

The unserved fish may be separated from the bones, mixed with cream or milk and cracker crumbs, well seasoned and baked. This makes a delicious lunch or side serving.

He Was Worried And Hopeless.

"For ten years I was bothered with kidney trouble," writes T. F. Hutchinson, Little Rock, Ark. "I was worried and had almost given up all hopes. I used five boxes of Foley Kidney Pills and am now a well man." Foley Kidney Pills drive out aches, pains, rheumatism and all kidney trouble symptoms. Sold everywhere, and in Hondo by W. H. Windrow.

A Happy Thought.

"I heard you holding gay converse with the janitor this morning."

"Yes."

"Tis seldom the great man unbends."

"Quite true, but this morning I had occasion to borrow a corkscrew from him and I invited him up to my apartment to see that highly useful device in operation."

Best Treatment for a Burn.

If for no other reason, Chamberlain's Salve should be kept in every household on account of its great value in the treatment of burns. It allays the pain almost instantly, and unless the injury is a severe one, heals the parts without leaving a scar. This salve is also unequalled for chapped hands, sore nipples and diseases of the skin. Price, 25 cents. For sale by All Dealers.

Bag of Lettuce.

To place lettuce or parsley of celery in a cloth bag and keep directly on the ice means that the vegetable will keep fresh and crisp much longer than in any other way. Bags, all made and stamped with the name "Lettuce," "Parsley" or "Celery" may be had for 35 cents. There is a shir string at top to pull tight and keep the contents in place. It would possibly take about an hour to make one of these bags, but the comfort and satisfaction in using one cannot be computed.

JUST FOR TONIGHT

By EARL REED SILVERS.

The strains of "Just for Tonight" died away. Phil Rendall looked into the eyes of Mildred Arnold and smiled. "Is it going to be just for tonight with us?" he whispered.

"I guess so, Phil." She spoke kindly, but there was a hint of determination in her voice. "There's Arthur, you know."

Phil frowned darkly.

"Are you engaged to him?"

"Almost." Mildred's voice quivered slightly. "It isn't announced yet, but two years ago, when he was a sophomore in college, I promised him."

"And now, when you know that he isn't all you thought he was, are you going to keep your promise?"

"Yes." They had walked to the porch of the big gymnasium and were standing in the shadows. "It's the only thing for me to do."

"But your whole future is at stake."

"I know, but that doesn't make a promise less binding. Arthur hasn't done anything wrong so far as I know. He's just weak, but lots and lots of men are weak, and girls have married them just the same."

"He's a coward," Phil spoke hotly.

"You—you really haven't any right to say that." The girl laid a restraining hand on his arm.

He was silent for a minute or two, but suddenly he turned to her impulsively. "I know I shouldn't say these things," he said, "but it hurts me so to know that you are going to give yourself to someone who isn't worthy of you. Not that I am," he added hastily, "but at least I'm more of a man than Arthur Martin is."

"I know you are," She spoke softly.

The music for the next dance drifted out of the open doorway, and Arthur Martin appeared to claim his partner. Phil watched them until they were lost in the shifting crowd of dancers.

"If only something would happen to show her what a cad he is!" he muttered.

Phil saw them at the baseball game the next afternoon, and in the evening, when he stood on the porch of Ferroll hall, where the final dance of junior week was being held, he watched as they whirled off together to the strains of "Mighty Like a Rose," the first waltz of the night.

Phil managed to engage the sixth and seventh dances with Mildred, and instead of staying in the crowded hall they walked over the shadowy paths of the Belmont campus until they came to the steps of the old King's building, where they lingered. They were half hidden in the shadows, and the two persons who stood beneath the arc light, not ten feet away, did not notice them. Phil started as he noted that one of the figures was Arthur Martin and the other Nellie Burt, whom he knew by sight as a factory hand for the Thompson company downtown. They could hear Martin speaking angrily.

"I tell you, I'm through," he said. "But you promised to marry me!" There was a hint of tears in the girl's voice.

"I can't marry you; I'm engaged to someone else."

"You must!" She spoke tensely, and seized the arm of his coat. "You can't turn me down like this."

"I'm not turning you down. I didn't promise to marry you—just suggested that we might possibly be married some day."

"You asked me that night on the river."

"I didn't."

"You did—you know you did."

The two in the shadows could not help hearing what was said. Phil recovered from his amazement first, and took Mildred's arm.

"Come on," he suggested. "Let's go back to the hall."

"No," Mildred spoke firmly. "I'm going to find out the truth about this affair."

Before he could stop her she had confronted Martin and the other girl. "Arthur," she asked, "is this girl speaking the truth?"

Martin gasped as he saw her.

Nellie Burt stepped forward. "Are you the girl he's engaged to?" she asked.

"Yes."

"Well, he promised to marry me. I gave up all the other boys for him, and now he's going to turn me down."

"Don't believe her," Martin strove desperately to make his voice sound convincing. "I heard you tell her that you had suggested marriage," Mildred spoke firmly. "I've heard rumors of this kind of things before, Arthur, but I didn't believe them. Now I know that they are so."

"But this girl isn't anything to me."

"It doesn't make any difference whether she is or not. You have proved that you can't be trusted."

"Mildred!" There was a world of entreaty in his voice. He took a step toward her.

"No!" She turned away. "You may consider our engagement at an end." Without another word, she took Phil's arm and they walked away.

They were silent until they reached Ferroll hall. As they entered the door the strains of "Just for Tonight" floated across the room.

When the waltz was concluded he looked into her eyes.

"Is it still just for tonight with us?" he questioned.

"No, not for tonight." She smiled up at him. "For always."

FARMERS WANT EIGHT-HOUR DAY

ARBITRATION FAVORED IN ADJUSTING DIFFERENCES BETWEEN CAPITAL AND LABOR.

Farmers Pay the Freight and Want to Present Their View-Point in Controversy—Head of Texas Union Wires President Wilson.

Fort Worth, Texas—Henry N. Pope, president of the Texas Farmers' Union, today wired President Wilson favoring the eight-hour day, if it applied to farmers as well as industrial laborers, but protesting against any discrimination against the farming population in favor of any other class of laborers. Mr. Pope's telegram follows:

"The farmer stands for a fair and reasonable wage to both labor and capital engaged in handling the products of the soil from the time it leaves the hands of the farmer until it reaches the ultimate consumer. The contention that eight hours of labor should constitute a day's work we agree to, and that every laborer should receive such compensation as will enable him to support his family in comfort, we also recognize. If your plan contemplates eight hours per day for all those who labor, including the farmers, and a reasonable wage for the man who plows as well as those who work in industry then we are with you, but if in its application, it results in decreasing the hours of those employed in the cities and increasing the hours of those employed in the field, then we are opposed to it. The farmers of this state work from twelve to fourteen hours per day and the average compensation does not exceed two dollars per day. We have in this state nearly a quarter of a million women working as farm hands in the field from sunup to sundown for fifty cents per day, which is as much as the products of their toil will bear. If your plan is capable of giving them a full day's pay for eight hours labor then we are with you, but if it results in shifting either hours or dollars from those who labor in industry to the backs of those who follow the plow we are unalterably opposed to it. We are willing to give to labor engaged in transportation service as favorable working conditions and as fair remuneration as we ourselves receive. It is an accepted custom in increasing the wages of labor to pass the increase on to the consumer or producer. The men who pay the freight, therefore, have an equity in these disputes which cannot involuntarily be transmitted to others and the principle involved is too great to temporarily yield to intimidation. We believe the fundamental issues so far reaching the financial outlay of such gigantic proportions and the present application of the principle so limited in its scope that the subject should receive the most careful investigation and study where the farmers and all interests can receive a patient hearing and we ask that the entire controversy be turned over to a properly constituted committee for adjustment. It is the history of most economic reforms that they exhaust themselves before reaching the farmer and we want the farming interests directly represented in such fundamental controversies before this government commits itself to any definite policy temporary or permanent in which they are made a party."

(Signed) HENRY N. POPE, President Texas Farmers' Union.

SOME BASEBALL STARS of 1916

THE FARM AND SMALL TOWN FURNISH BEST MATERIAL FOR BIG LEAGUE TIMBER.

Looking over the roster of the big league ball teams you will find name after name of men who only recently were boys on the farm or in the village or small town. On the other hand, surprisingly few hall from the big cities. And yet, this is not so surprising after all. Even laying aside our knowledge of the big part that the so-called country boy has always played in the great affairs of business and the nation, the country is the place to lay the foundation necessary for athletes.

The photographs shown are familiar to all lovers of the great National game. In addition to their being representatives of their type in the baseball world, all of these stalwart athletes are great endorers of that beverage you know and like so well—Coca-Cola.

Short Histories of the Players.
JONES, Fielder Allison, Manager of St. Louis Browns. Born August 13, 1871, at Shingle House, Pa. Last season he came within one-half game of winning Federal League pennant, finishing nearer the top than any team in major leagues since the Browns in 1919.

He says Coca-Cola is his favorite beverage.

ALEXANDER, Grover Cleveland, Pitcher Philadelphia Nationals. Born in St. Paul, Nebraska, February 26, 1887, and lives on a farm there now.

Alexander is one of the greatest pitchers in the game today, being practically responsible for the Philadelphia National League team winning the pennant last year. Drafted by Philadelphia in August, 1910, with whom he has since played. He warmly endorses Coca-Cola as a drink for athletes.

DOYLE, Lawrence, Captain New York National League Club. Born at Caseyville, Ill., July 31, 1886. Second baseman.

He has played with the New York Nationals since 1907, and was appointed Captain in 1912, which position he has since held with them. Leading hitter of the National League for the season of 1915. Like all the best of them he is a staunch believer in Coca-Cola.

There is, by the way, a wonderful similarity between the origin of these ball players and that of the beverage which they endorse. Coca-Cola might be called an agricultural drink, both from the materials it is made of and because of its great popularity in the country as well as in the city. For Coca-Cola, if ever there was a natural, wholesome beverage, is such—it itself is a gift from Nature. Made from Nature's purest, finest sugar—sugar particularly rich in the juice of fine fruits and things that grow and sweeten with Nature's purest, finest sugar—sugar. It is this fine combination that gives Coca-Cola its deliciousness of flavor, its distinctively refreshing and thirst-quenching qualities and great wholesomeness. That's why ball players, athletes, fans—all classes and kinds of men and women drink and endorse Coca-Cola. Drink a glass or a bottle and you will be just as enthusiastic about it.
